CLEVELAND MAN PREACHES HERE ON BIBLICAL LESSONS

Head of Evangelical Sunday School Paper Tells of Bible Characters.

W. C. Hallwachs, of Cleveland, O., editor-in-chief of the Evangelical church Sunday school publications, was the speaker at the morning and evening services at the First Evangelical church here. In the morning he spoke on "The Half Worked Sunday School Field," contending that half of the boys and girls attending Sunday schools are lost to the church because of lack of proper training and instruction. His address at the evening service was taken from Acts 4:13. "They took knowledge of them that they had been with Jesus." His theme was "Transformed Lives." The bible is a record of the progressive revelation of God's plan for human redemption," said Mr. Hallwachs, "but it is also the record of the application of this plan to individual lives. The biographical element is very prominent in the Word of God."

"This is some of the finest lessons in Holy Writ taught and impressed."

"The question arises, 'Where is character is of the highest type found in the Word?"

"A great variety of answers might be given for such a galaxy of outstanding personalities, each will be found one to appeal to his own ideals."

"One will choose from the very beginning of sacred history, Abraham, the friend of God. Another, David, the Psalmist, another, Ruth, the paragon of loyalty, or Esther, his queenly queen. You will note that these are women as well as men in this great picture gallery."

"The text, however, brings before us a group of men and women who seem to be more intensely human than all the others. It was the company who had been associated with Jesus. Out of these very human folk there was developed a group of folks to whom the Master entrusted the task of world evangelism and reconstruction. The change which came into their lives was such as to attract the interest and occasion the comment of their contemporaries."

"What was the secret of these transformed lives? They were not the product of the outgrowth of some innate quality; not the product of heredity. They were the product of their environment of the spirit of the day in which they lived. Nothing akin to their spirits is to be found in the history of Greece or Rome or Judaism of that day. Indeed, quite the opposite."

"Three elements produced these characters. First, fellowship with Jesus. They touched his garment's folds and soon the Heavenly alchemist transformed their very dress to gold. Second, His spirit was communicated to them. His spirit became their disposition. Third, they rendered unquestioning obedience to Him. These are still conditions of a transformed life, of a Christian character."

NOLKE'S SWATTERS SWAT HARD BUT LOSE GAME BY 5-2 SCORE

Despite a heroic effort to win a game on the home grounds the Dodge-Indestructos again lost in yesterday's game when the All Stars of the Michigan Central League outplayed them to the tune of 5 to 2.

It was an exciting game in spots and at one time it looked as though Nolke's swatters had the All Stars on the run. That in the third inning when the Dodge-Indestructos scored two runs. The visitors seemed to be helpless in that half inning and it seemed as though the Sox would at last be broken, but the All Stars came back in the first half of the fourth inning and scored two more runs. From that time on the Dodge players were locked out.

Zents pitched for the Indestructos, Morris was catcher.

Lure of Westland Attracts Farmer In Overland Trip

Connecticut Grower With Prairie Schooner "Voyages" to Oregon.

FREDERICK, Md., Oct. 8.—Prosperous, but with an innate aversion for the automobile which his New England sublimity will not permit him to forget, L. C. Berran, living near West Chester, Conn., sixty years old, and his white-haired wife are migrating to the West in search of better fortunes, as the pioneers of 60 years ago did. They are traveling in an overland wagon. They don't anticipate reaching the "promised land" until late in 1922.

Already Berran and his wife have been on the road nearly a year. They left their Connecticut farm December 2, 1920, and their destination is the fruit belt of Oregon.

The procession is quaint. The "wagon train" is headed by two huge oxen, drawing a canvas-covered wagon with bulging bows. This is followed by a more modest outfit—a cart drawn by an ox. They make 10 miles a day. They
